Reception One of the Most Cordial and Enthusiastic in History of the World

PARIS, DECEMBER 14.—(Associated Press)—President Wilson made his entrance into Paris at 10:15 o'clock this morning. The President's arrival at the capital was greeted with a salvo of artillery in salute.

The dense throngs gathered to greet the American executive hailed his coming with volleys of cheering. As he alighted from his train a roar of welcome went up that left no doubt as to the cordiality of the welcome given by Paris to its latest guest.

President Wilson was greeted by President and Madame Poincare, Premier Clemenceau, and other high officials.

The formalities of the greeting over, the President entered a carriage with President Poincare. Mrs. Wilson, with Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, followed in another carriage accompanied by Mrs. Poincare. The party drove at once to the residence of Prince Murat, where the President will reside while in the French capital.

The route to the Presidential residence was lined with French troops in solid array along its entire length. President Poincare greeted President Wilson warmly as the latter stepped from the train, the French executive firmly grasping him by the hand. Wm. Martin, who is attached to the Foreign Office as introducer of ambassadors, introduced Premier Clemenceau, who welcomed President Wilson in English, saying he was extremely glad to meet him.

15,000 MEN PER DAY ARE RELEASED

Authorities Believe That Later on This Demobilization Rate May Be Increased to 30,000 Per Day

Disintegration of Armed Force is Moving Along Satisfactorily

(By Associated Press)

Washington, December 14.—Demobilization in the United States is now proceeding at the rate of 15,000 men per day, General March announced today. It still is anticipated that a rate of 30,000 a day will be reached when full momentum is attained.

The War Department has designated a total of 824,000 men in the United States for discharge, an increase of 200,000 during the last week.

General March made it clear, however, that designation of troops does not mean immediate discharge but severance from the service as their turn is reached in demobilization.

Among the new branches of the army to be included in demobilization orders are 12,000 Porto Rican troops ordered discharged.

Of a total of 824,000 men designated, 350,000 are in depots and development battalions and similar limited units. In addition 18,000 men on in-

PRESIDENT EXPRESSES GRATITUDE

In Speaking on the Occasion of a Luncheon Given by President Poincare

Indicates Intention to Demand Justice for the Guilty War Lords

(By Associated Press)

Paris, December 14.—President and Madame Poincare gave a luncheon at the Palace de Elysee in honor of President and Mrs. Wilson. President Wilson on this occasion spoke in part as follows, in replying to an address by President Poincare:

"Mr. President: I am deeply indebted to you for your gracious greeting. It is very delightful to find myself in France, and to feel the quick contact of sympathy and unaffected friendship between the representatives of the United States and the representatives of France. "You have been very generous in what you were pleased to say about myself, but I feel that what I have said and what I have tried to do has been said and done only in an attempt to speak the thought of the people of the United States truly and to carry that thought out in action."

"From the first the thought of the people of the United States turned toward something more than the mere winning of this war. It turned to the establishment of eternal principles of right and justice. It realized that merely to win the war was not enough; that it must be won in such a way and the questions raised by it settled in such a way as to insure the future peace of the world and lay the foundation for the freedom and happiness of its many peoples and nations. "Never before has war worn so terrible a visage or exhibited more grossly the debasing influence of illicit ambitions. I am sure I shall look upon the ruins wrought by the armies of the central empires with the same repulsion and deep indignation that they stir in the hearts of the men of France and Belgium, and I appreciate as you do, sir, the necessity of such action in the final settlement of the issues of the war as will not only rebuke such acts of terror and spoliation but make men everywhere aware that they cannot be ventured upon without the certainty of just punishment."

MINISTERS ORDERED TO FAVOR HUNS

Some of the Posters Obeyed Plotters and Are in Penitentiaries

Others Were Wholly Loyal to America

(By Associated Press)

Washington, December 14.—German Lutheran pastors were instructed to preach pro-German sermons before the United States entered the war, Captain Lester of the Army Intelligence Service, told the Senate Propaganda Investigating Committee today, and some of the pastors who joined the army later and continued preaching favorably to Germany now are in the Atlanta penitentiary.

On the other hand, Captain Lester said, other Lutheran ministers were wholly loyal and aided in giving the government information. He said representatives of the larger German Lutheran synods informed the intelligence service that unfortunately some ministers were disloyal and scraps were being taken to get them out of the church.

Describing unsuccessful efforts of German propagandists among American negroes, the witness said word was passed among the negro recruits that if Germany won and occupied the United States a portion of the country would be turned over exclusively to them.

GIGANTIC CREAMERIES INDUSTRY IS ON VERGE OF LOCATING HERE

NEGOTIATIONS NOW BEING CLOSED TO MEAN NEW EPOCH IN CITY'S HISTORY

The Sunlight Creameries, Incorporated For One Million Dollars and Producing 5,000,000 Pounds of Creamery Butter, 20,000,000 Pounds of Oleo and Other Products, Plans Monster Plant Covering More Than Ten Acres.

SALES BARN AND ADJACENT TERRITORY TO BECOME VERITABLE BEE-HIVE OF ACTIVITY

Monster Modern, Fire-proof Buildings Including Five-story Cold Storage Plant to be Erected.—Fayette County Creamery to be Absorbed.

The Sunlight Creameries, a million dollar corporation backed by Chicago capitalists is today closing negotiations for a site for the construction of a monster creamery plant that will have an annual capacity of 5,000,000 pounds of creamery butter, 20,000,000 pounds of oleomargarine, millions of pounds of condensed buttermilk and tens of thousands of gallons of ice cream.

The site is to include the mammoth sales barn and adjacent territory, so that the plant will have some 10 or 12 acres for erecting what may be the largest creamery in the United States.

Plans of the concern were made public at a special meeting of council, held on Friday night for the purpose of granting drainage privileges to the concern, when it was disclosed that a committee of local men has been hard at work for weeks to bring the concern to this city. The privileges were granted as asked.

It was announced at the council meeting that only the closing of an other option, which it was hoped would be done Saturday, stood in the way of the monster enterprise located here.

No stock will be sold in this city, it is announced, and only a small sum, to be raised among the business interests of the city, will be asked of the citizens.

Plans of the concern, as announced by representatives, call for modern buildings over the bulk of the entire tract obtained, and these will be fire-proof and the last word in up-to-date construction.

SALES BARN REMAINS

The sales pavilion, which has contributed its share toward advertising the city, will remain intact for the present, and will be utilized for garage and storage purposes.

Early in March work will begin on the various buildings which will form the big plant, the first building to be 200 feet long, 80 feet wide and 2 and 3 stories in height, of reinforced concrete construction. A co-operation plant office building, and various other structures will be pushed to completion as speedily as possible.

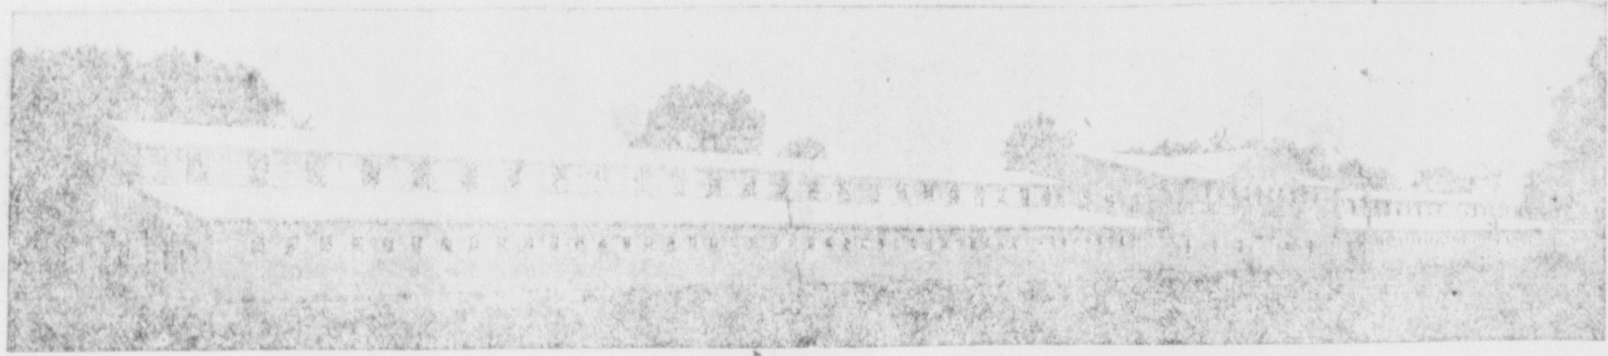

FIVE STORY BUILDING

One of the main buildings will be a monster five-story cold storage plant, which will stand on the southern part of the Sales Barn tract. Each of the chain of buildings will be constructed along plans which have already been formulated, or which are now in process of formation, and the speed with which they will be erected is expected to be an eye opener in this city.

WHAT WILL BE PRODUCED

Plans for the first year's operation of the great plant are for the production of at least 5,000,000 pounds of high grade creamery butter; 20,000,000 pounds of oleomargarine; millions of pounds of condensed buttermilk, known as "Lacto-feed," and tens of thousands of gallons of ice cream. Other dairy products may be taken up later on.

FAMOUS SALES BARN TO BECOME PART OF HUGE CREAMERY PLANT

ABSORB LOCAL CREAMERY

A short-time option has been secured on the plant and equipment of the Fayette County Creamery located on Columbus Avenue and Market streets, subject to approval of the stockholders of the concern, and within a short time The Sunlight Creameries will begin business at the small plant until the big plant is ready for use.

COST OF CREAMERY PLANT

The initial cost of the big plant and equipment is expected to be expected to be somewhere between $500,000 and $800,000, while constant growth is expected to add several hundred thousands of dollars additional cost to the plant within the next few years.

MEN BACK OF CONCERN

The men back of The Sunlight Creameries are capitalists of Chicago and other cities, and it is understood that they have unlimited funds for developing the business. The Sunlight Creamery is incorporated for $1,000,000 under the laws of Illinois. Mr. Frank Abke, of this city, will have charge of the creamery department of the plant.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES HERE

The huge plant, in this city, it is explained, will be the first of a series of large plants at various points in the United States, and the executive offices of the concern, which will employ a large number of people alone, will be located here, and the other plants managed from the local offices, outside of the local heads of departments necessary in each plant.

TO EMPLOY HUNDREDS

The plant in this city is expected to employ several hundred persons when in full operation, and the majority of the employees will reside in this city and be employed in and about the plant.

Twenty-five to fifty families, it is expected, will move into the city as soon as the plant is ready for operation, and ten traveling men will be put on the road in January to map out milk routes and arrange for collecting stations. The weekly pay roll will reach into the thousands.

DRAW FROM VAST AREA

The plant will draw from many thousands of square miles of territory throughout southern and central Ohio and northern Kentucky, and 25 trucks will be used in collecting milk and cream and distributing ice cream and other products of the plant.

TO PAY TOP PRICES

Because the plant is located in this city and no high freight charges are necessary in marketing the milk and cream, the concern will be enabled to pay the highest market price for milk and cream, so that the coming of the plant will mean more to the farmers of this county and this part of Ohio generally than they can realize at the present time, and will mean because of the attractive prices paid, great numbers of cows will be added to the herds of the farmers.

CHEAP HOG FEED

Buttermilk will be condensed and converted into "Lacto-feed" which is a food for either man or beast, and this product will be available to farmers at a very reasonable price, it is explained, and it is claimed that its fattening propensities make it a most valuable feed for swine and a food that can be used with large profit to the farmers.

MARKET FOR PRODUCTS

The concern will have no difficulty in marketing its products, being affiliated with large firms which have selling branches located in every large city. Ice cream of the highest grade is to be produced and will be delivered by truck to the door of the retailer in all towns and cities in this part of Ohio.

New manufacturing plants will be constructed at various points in the United States where the raw material will permit.

THIS IDEAL TERRITORY

The reason the concern sought to locate in this city is because this territory has been tested out and found to be the richest undeveloped milk and cream territory in the middle west, and Washington is located in the very heart of it.

When a surplus of milk is received, it will be evaporated and reduced to a power form, after which it will be stored away until the slack time of the winter, when it will be converted into milk once more and put through the process of manufacture.

WHAT WILL BE REQUIRED

The first year the plant is in operation, it is announced, from 100,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds of milk will be required.

SHOWS CIVIC PRIDE

The committee of local men which has for weeks been engaged in obtaining a site and option, met with great encouragement from Mr. Chas. Allen, owner of the Sales Barn site, who displayed genuine civic interest in naming a price that appealed to the representatives of the concern, a price that would be attractive in that way do his part in bringing to the city what is regarded as the greatest industry ever locating in this city, and which it is believed will mean more to the city and Fayette county than had ever been hoped for.

RURAL CARRIER

EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Washington C. H., Fayette county, to be held at Washington C. H., January 11, to fill the position of rural carrier at Washington C. H., and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 197. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

During the continuance of the present war the commission will, in accordance with the request of the Post Office Department, admit women to rural carrier examinations upon the same conditions as men.

REV. WM. B. GAGE TELLS HOW SHIP PARTY CELEBRATE

French Have Happier Idea Of Life and Indulge in Lighter Exhibitions of Joy, Presbyterian Minister Thinks.

Arrived in Paris Too Late For The "Big Doings" But Ship's Party Certainly Carried On When News Came.

Writing to a friend in this city Rev. Wm. B. Gage, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, under date of November 21st, from Paris, describes graphically the passage across, the ship's company and above all how the great joyful news of peace was received on board the big ship.

Mr. Gage says: You at home know how peace came to America, and with what celebration it was marked, and in a later letter I may tell you how it came to France, and especially to Paris, where I am now living. But it remained for a very few to have the glad news of the armistice find them upon the high seas. That was my fortune.

Our voyage was as peaceful as the era it was to inaugurate. No boisterous winds tossed up the ocean, and how the Y. M. C. A. workers, both men and women to the number of 150, the Red Cross girls, the Salvation Army lasses were enjoying it all as we sat in our steamer chairs, or went singly or in couples, around the circle of the promenade deck, when renewing our youth, and receding the forgotten social arts of long ago.

Some one referring to that voyage the other day styled it "the world's longest social event." The women all chosen for their charm, and the men because they were good mixers for one thing, add to that moon light, illuminating with full orbed brightness, boundless waters, plus a Hungarian orchestra, plus a female quartette, plus cozy nooks, and imagination can well fill in the story of the voyage.

Never shall I forget going down the stairs from the promenade deck one night to meet a man from Illinois whose children were many and whose grandchildren were not a few, coming up with the blankets from his birth. "Where are you going," I asked, "Some of us boys," he replied, "have made it up with the girls of the Salvation Army to sleep out on deck in our steamer chairs." And thus it was. We were all boys and girls once more, and the burden of years had rolled away. Professors, occupation, and business were all lost in the blessed events of those twelve days we spent together on the seas.

We played as children games, old and long forgotten, romped and ran from top to bottom of our ponderous steamer, and money cannot buy the recollection of these recent experiences. And the best of it was that by this magic of Y. M. C. A. training we were all better fitted for sympathetic work among the soldiers.

We were made young again. And in this going to play, I who go to the French army, have been made more fit for the task that lies before me. Now that I am away from America, it seems to me that we have not learned the art of living, how to laugh and be happy, carrying the spirit of childhood into mature years. We are too dignified, sedate—so much so that the French say to me "your soldiers they can fight, but what else then, they are so sober?"

You should have seen my French friends celebrate the armistice on the boat. We Americans would have had music by the orchestra, music by the male quartette, and then the "Charlie Reed" of the party would make a speech. Is it not so? But not the French. They are wiser. They know how to be happy and to celebrate. This is how they did it. They took hold of hands just as we all used to do years ago, forming a large circle and then, with someone in the middle, played "ring around the rosiey."

"Oh come let us dance," they sang. "Oh come let us dance, dance around this one" and ever and anon the one in the middle would throw his arms around the neck of some one of the opposite sex and give them a real genuine, old fashioned kiss. How they laughed, how they shouted when the kiss came. The game was open it seemed to be quite popular. A secretary from southern Ohio stood at the rail near by and wished that it was not Sunday night and that he did not have a New England conscience. He was sure that he would be "it" repeatedly, for was he not the Frenchmen's own secretary, and did he not know them and was with them all the time and had already learned to like them.

Very sincerely yours,
WM. B. GAGE

Put in Paris—well that is another story as Kipling used to say. But all secretaries and soldiers get their kisses here on the streets of Paris as the city celebrated for a week's time. How they rushed them down the street—and nobody escaped—who wanted to any way. But I came too late for that, and they say that I missed all the fun.

Very sincerely yours,
WM. B. GAGE

VIEWS OF OTHERS

Editor Herald:— I would like to know: Why a half dozen people, holding an extended conversation in the middle of the sidewalk, can't see how dangerous it is for pedestrians to walk the curbstone, while trying to get past them.

Why so many young men do not know the underbrush of their chin oftener than once a week.

Why some people, supposedly patriotic Americans, buy a two-cent picture of Jefferson or someone else at the Post Office stamp window, go to the writing desk, and while someone is carefully addressing a letter, lick the back of the picture, place it on an envelope and begin to pound the face of it as if taking their spite out on Kaiser Bill.

Why some men, who were so warm-hearted in October, cooled off so suddenly after the November election was a thing of the past.

A Reader

VERSE IN BIBLE FULFILLED BY WAR

A traveling man who visited this city a few days ago, and who is in the habit of studying the Gideon Bibles distributed in hotels, has called attention to a remarkable coincidence and claims that the Bible contains a direct warning to the former Kaiser, picking the eleventh verse of the eleventh chapter of the eleventh book of the Old Testament because the armistice went into effect on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month.

The verse reads: "Wherefore the Lord said unto Solomon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, I will surely render the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant."

The "servant" the man explains, referred to the German people.

PECULIAR WILL OF MILLIONAIRE

The will of John Bryan, self-styled poet, author, millionaire and philanthropist, of Yellow Springs, has been filed in the Probate Court of Hamilton county.

He leaves his property, known as "Riverside Farm" of 500 acres near Yellow Springs, to the State of Ohio on condition that it be cultivated as a forestry, botanical and wild animal reserve park and experiment station. It is to be called "The John Bryan Natural History Reserve."

Further conditions imposed are that Mr. Bryan's body and that of his wife shall never be disturbed or the tombs molested, and that the State shall not allow any religious institution on the reserve nor permit religious public worship to be practiced or preached on said reserve. The State shall not exclude from the reserve well behaved people of any race or color. The wife of deceased and her attendants shall be allowed to reside on the reserve.

"If the State does not accept the reserve on these conditions it is to be offered to Greene County on like conditions and if it does not accept then the reserve becomes part of the residue of testator's estate and is to be sold.

The will further relates in regard to the reserve that his wife, Fredericka, by antenuptial contract waived her right of dower in the reserve.

He gives his fourteen acre tract in the city of Yellow Springs to Yellow Springs "for general park purposes, for lectures, games, refreshments or amusements, but no religious sermons or worship shall be held thereon."

To his wife, Fredericka Bryan, and her heirs, he gives $100,000, to be paid to her in payments of $5,000 a year out of non-taxable bonds. She shall accept $100,000 in lieu of dower in the estate and when she is 45 years old the whole principle and residue of $100,000 may be put in her own control.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND FUNERAL

Rev. J. L. McWilliams of the First Presbyterian Church held an impressive and effective service in tribute to Mr. John Coler at the home on the Lewis pike Friday afternoon.

The minister dwelt especially on Mr. Coler's life as a farmer, and the love of nature which made it for him the most desired of all occupations. He spoke with much appreciation of the many admirable traits which had won for this good man both respect and affection.

The large outpouring of friends from both town and county was in itself proof of the minister's statement. Miss Roberta Stokesbury sang with much sweetness, "Face to Face" and "Now the Day is Over." Mrs. R. E. Davis accompanied.

The burial was made in the Bloomington cemetery, with acting pallbearers Messrs. George Jackson, Jas. Ferrill, John Mortar, Jacob Kennell, C. J. King and Harry Haymaker.

There were beautiful floral remembrances. Mr. John Roetruck and family of London, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holland of Reynoldsburg, were here for the service.

RECONSTRUCTION COURSE OFFERED

Agricultural reconstruction problems are to be given careful consideration in a special eight weeks' course at the College of Agriculture beginning January 6 and ending February 28. The subjects taught will be livestock management, soil fertility, farm crops, dairying, fruit growing and gardening, poultry raising, farm management and farm mechanics.

While this course is in charge of the same faculty members as the four-year course, it is distinctly different and especially prepared for the busy farmer who wants to get the last word in agricultural information and as related to current conditions.

In commenting recently on the advisability of enrolling in such a course, Major W. S. Pealer, of the State Draft Headquarters said, "I personally from my knowledge of the agricultural conditions existing in Ohio would urge every agricultural worker to avail himself of the opportunity offered by such a course. This country must prepare for the readjustment and reorganization that is going to follow a signing of peace and end of the problems is going to be that of agricultural production. The scarcity of labor must of necessity be made up by the increased efficiency of those engaged in such work."

POEM FOR TODAY

WHEN JOHNNY COMES MARCHING HOME
When Johnny comes marching home again, hurrah, hurrah;
We'll give him a hearty welcome then, hurrah, hurrah;
The men will cheer, the boys will shout,
The ladies they will all turn out,
And we'll all feel gay, when Johnny comes marching home.

The old church bell will peal with joy, hurrah, hurrah;
To welcome home our darling boy, hurrah, hurrah;
The village lads and lassies say,
With roses they will strew the way
And we'll all feel gay, when Johnny comes marching home.

Get ready for the jubilee, hurrah, hurrah,
We'll give the hero three times three, hurrah, hurrah;
The laurel wreath is ready now,
To place upon his loyal brow,
And we'll all feel gay, when Johnny comes marching home.

Let love and friendship on that day, hurrah, hurrah,
Their choicest treasures then display, hurrah, hurrah;
And let each one perform some part,
To fill with joy the warrior's heart,
And we'll all feel gay, when Johnny comes marching home.

—(The home-coming song of the Civil War soldiers.)

MASQUERADER IS BROUGHT TO TRIAL

St. Louis, December 11.—Miss Bertha Schmidt, who for two years masqueraded as a man and recently went through a marriage ceremony with her cousin, was dismissed without fine when brought into court under an ordinance forbidding a woman "to appear in public in costume unbecoming her sex."

"Certainly it is not unbecoming," said Judge Hogan as the girl, who lives with her cousin, appeared before him in a natty serge suit of late cut, silk shirt, tan shoes and a "feather-edge" hair trim. Men's clothing is cheaper, and besides men can demand higher salaries, Miss Schmidt explained.

She was registered under the draft law and went among the men freely without being detected. Her downfall came when she was reported by an amazed neighbor who had known her "before."

GOOD RECORD IS MADE BY NAVY TAYLOR REPORTS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, December 1.—Success of the navy in solving its war time aircraft problems is attributed to the policy consistently followed of making this work conform to regular naval practice. Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, chief constructor, in his annual report made public today, says aircraft production has been handled like other departmental technical questions, and despite the great expansion of forces necessary, "direction and control of aircraft questions have been cared for by officers familiar with the methods of the Navy Department."

"Civilians," Admiral Taylor continues, "have thus been able to carry on their naval work under the most favorable conditions. This policy has demonstrated its soundness. The types of aircraft developed for production have proved successful, changes have been a minimum and have been adopted only with a view to improvement."

As the report was prepared prior to the cessation of hostilities, it does not go into detail on any part of the building operations of the navy. As to aircraft, however, it shows that both types of seaplanes used by the navy are "fundamentally American" improved in design on British experience. In October production of the two main types was in excess of requirements.

Development of balloons for naval purposes also comes under Admiral Taylor's bureau. His report shows that much experimental work was done with types of parachutes, an officer of the construction corps having dropped from an airship in flight and from a kite balloon to test the design adopted. The same officer also successfully tried out a new type of parachute "carrying the basket of the kite balloon and its occupants."

Too Many Judges

State Auditor Donahey expresses the opinion that Ohio has too many judges; that the state could save thousands of dollars annually by doing away with a number of judgeships and at the same time not reduce the capacity of the legal machinery of the commonwealth.

We all know that the volume of litigation has decreased materially within the last decade and the shrinkage has not stopped yet, by any means. People are not "going to law" now days as they did in the days of our fathers. Litigation is recognized as an unprofitable and exceedingly annoying and uncertain business adventure under the antiquated judicial machinery and, as a consequence they are settling their differences "out of court."

Business and business men have out-grown the legal procedure. It is too slow and too uncertain. It is not nearly so well patronized as formerly and we might as well begin reducing the capacity of a partially useless machine. Cut the court machinery down to the demand.

We agree with the state auditor's suggestion, no matter what the motive in making it might have been.

The President in France

The tumultuous greeting accorded President Wilson upon his arrival in France is another expression of the sincere and unanimous approval which the old world gives to the visit of America's chief executive.

The people of Europe are looking to President Wilson to explain and urge and defend, if necessary, the fourteen great fundamentals of peace which the world has long since accepted as the basis upon which the future relations of nations must be predicated if there is to be any guarantee of peace, if people are to be free of autocracy and if the weaker nations are to enjoy the same privileges as their stronger neighbors.

Europe would have been disappointed, as would the troubled peoples in those troubled nations, some of which have been borne since those fourteen principles were given to the world, had President Wilson not gone to the peace conference. Leaders of these new nations are struggling toward the light through ways that are unknown to them. They want the benefit of the counsel of the world's foremost champion of human liberty and national freedom.

The councillors who will assemble at Versailles desire the benefit of the President's advice and explanation. Europe is a unit in approving the President's course and it is only in America that there is any division of opinion as to the wisdom of his going to Paris. Even those Americans who, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, have opposed his going abroad are now accepting, under the advice of party leaders, conditions as they exist, realizing that a wrangling nation at home will handicap the efforts of the President and place America in an unenviable attitude before the world.

Right or wrong, according to our individual opinion, the President has gone to France to speak at the peace conference, for American and American ideals and the nation doesn't want his effort handicapped. We want America's voice to be heard and respected and the President must have the nation behind him and he has too. No fear, we think, need be felt that he will not correctly word and logical defend the true ideals for which America fought on the field of battle and which became the magnet drawing and holding together all free peoples.

Same Old Huns

Some of the correspondents with the American army of occupation in Germany write back that the people of the United States need worry no longer lest the people of Germany starve.

German men, women and children are reported to be well fed and well clothed and, in one of the German cities now in possession of our troops, the inhabitants are depicted as living an almost fete day existence. Amusement places are crowded, the shops and stores are well stocked and well patronized and, the correspondent says that only in Paris was he able to secure better and more liberal supplies of food. Cafes, hotels, restaurants and drinking places all are reported to be doing a thriving business.

The most amazing statement is that the Huns still consider themselves unconquered and unconquerable, utterly unaffected by the crimes they have committed, the losses sustained or the contempt with which the rest of the world regards them. They still retain the blind ignorant egotism which led them over the precipice, they still cling tenaciously to the low ideals of the middle ages with no desire to change and no appreciation of the calamity which has overcome them.

Household help is hard to get, costly and often indifferent.

A Hoover is always "on the job" and it always does its work well. It doesn't slight its task. It is a pleasure to operate it. Requires no muscle tiring labor.

It gets out all imbedded grit. It brightens coloring. It sweeps up the most stubborn litter.

By suction and motor driven brush it takes up the dirt without raising dust. It prolongs a rug or carpet's life.

It cuts down the cost of household expense in TIME, WORRY, MONEY. The only sweeper where brush is driven by motor.

BELOVED YOUNG GIRL IS LAID TO REST

Long before the hour appointed for the farewell services of Miss Marie Tharp, held Saturday morning, Saint Andrews Episcopal Church was filled with friends and still they kept coming—the school friends and teachers of this lovely young girl—men, women and children adding the note of their personal sorrow to the heart-breaking grief of her own family.

The club of young girls to which she belonged, "The Chi Delta Chi," attended in a body. It was a sad and gathering, but while those who had lost her mourned, the young girl who rested upon the white cushions of her couch casket, a prayer book clasped in her hands, knew only peace.

Very simple, but beautifully impressive was the Episcopalian burial service conducted by Rev. David H. Barr, the choir singing the chants and a hymn that had been a favorite of Marie's, "Now the Day is Over."

Miss Jessie Leavell sang tenderly "There is a Blessed Home," Mrs. George H. Hitchcock at the organ.

This was the first funeral held in St. Andrews and Marie the first of its membership to be summoned to the great beyond. She had been a faithful member and the organist and the services seemed to throbb with the sense of her loss. As they ended, just prior to the closing of the casket on the altar, the oldest sister, Mrs. Richard Ramsey, placed a blanket over the quiet form. The mother, Mrs. W. A. Tharp, was ill and not able to attend.

The burial was made in the Washington cemetery and the pallbearers, six of her young friends, Willis Willis, Joseph Wilson, Robert Boardman, Thos. Rogers, David Craig and Richard Haynes.

The floral remembrances were in wonderful profusion and beauty. Among them special designs from the Chi Delta Chi Club, the Senior class, ladies of St. Andrews, Knights of Pythias, Elks, Alpha Delta Pie, Soror Pheles, Girls' and Boys' High School Glee Clubs, C. and E. Marshall Co., Columbus, St. Andrews Choir, Tuesday Afternoon, Kensington Club, Junior Cecilia and Freshman Class.

Discharge furlough have been ordered released.

Demobilization of officers is proceeding more rapidly than in the case with the men. General March said a total of 17,393 officers have been honorably discharged since the armistice was signed.

Summarizing the flow of returning troops from France, General March said a total of 5653 officers and 135,262 men had been designated for return by General Pershing up to December 12. Of that number 1373 officers and 29,793 men have actually sailed from France.

SPECIAL TRAINS CARRY PRISONERS TOWARD FRANCE

Berne, December 14. — Four special trains, carrying 2500 American soldiers, the last to come through Switzerland from German prisons, have passed through here during the past two days. They were going to France.

It is reported that there are no more American prisoners in southern Germany. Those still in Germany are in camps further north and will pass out through Holland.

MOVING NOW INTO FARTHEST HUN TERRITORY

(By Associated Press)

Coblenz, December 14. — American troops began yesterday to move into the last German territory indicated for occupation under the terms of the armistice.

Over five bridges thousands of soldiers poured into the country east of the Rhine. The river crossed, they deployed for the advance over the 18 miles with Coblenz as the center. The bridgehead, it is expected, will be occupied completely by December 16th.

NEED BOOKS FOR MEN IN HOSPITAL

"There are tens of thousands of wounded men in our hospitals and every returning transport and hospital ship brings more thousands. Many of these men will be in hospitals for months, some of them for a year or more, before they are sufficiently recovered to be discharged from the army.

"These men need books. They need books more than they need almost anything else except surgical care and nursing."

Herbert Putman, Librarian of Congress, who is General Director of the Library War Service of the American Library Association, thus directs attention to an opportunity for service that is open to everyone. For the books that are needed for our men in hospitals and those in camps awaiting demobilization are the books that are on the book shelves of nearly every American home.

"What these men need is reading matter in good current fiction," said Dr. Putman. "The American Library Association has supplied and is supplying technical and educational books by thousands to meet the insistent demands of our men in uniform for that class of reading matter. These books have to be bought, and almost all of the funds available for the Association's Library War Service are required for this purpose, and for the maintenance of the service."

"For fiction and general literature we have to depend largely upon gifts from the public. Since last spring more than three million gift books have been placed in the hands of our soldiers and sailors. Books wear out, and these books have been widely scattered among the camps on this side and over seas, so now we have no reserve supply of good fiction to draw on for the pressing need of the moment, which is in the hospitals and demobilization camps.

"Every good recent book that can be spared from anyone's personal book shelf will find its way quickly into the hands of some soldier or sailor who needs mental relaxation and recreation if it is taken or sent at once to the nearest public library. Every public library in the United States is a receiving station for Library War Service and books reelected are forwarded to the hospitals and demobilization camps.

DODGE BROTHERS FARMERS CAR

Dodge Brothers offer their Farmers Car to the farmer as an investment on which he can make money. The only way in which a car can be made to earn a profit on the farm is by steady, every-day, low-cost service. It must give more than just an easy way of getting to town and back. It must pay its own way by doing all the odd hauling, cheaper and quicker than ever before. With Dodge Brothers Farmers Car the farmer can accurately judge in the beginning what this cost will be. He can depend upon a very low outlay for gasoline, oil and tires. Except in case of accident or abuse, he may be certain that repairs will be few and simple. Farmers realize now that they do not require speed alone, but speed and durability combined with economy. Dodge Brothers offer this Farmers Car to farmers as a method of hauling which unites these qualities.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO VISIT US AND EXAMINE THIS CAR.
The haulage cost is unusually low.

Library in the United States has been designated as a receiving station for such gifts.

The classes of books most in demand by the soldiers are fiction of the adventurous-romantic school. Recent requests from hospital and camp librarians emphasize the call for the books of this sort. Zane Gray is perhaps the most popular of all writers with the enlisted men, and of his books, from "Heritage of the Desert" to "The U. P. Trail" there is never a sufficient supply. The "Tarzan" stories by Edgar Rice Burroughs are fairly devoured, and Rex Beach, John Fox, Jr., and B. M. Bower are favorites.

O. Henry's books are in constant demand, with scant supply. There are never enough copies of "Tom Sawyer" to meet the calls for Mark Twain's classic of boyhood, though hundreds of copies have been bought in addition to those given by the public. Anna Katharine Green's detective stories vie with the adventures of George Barr McCutcheon. Soldiers like the detective stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart, too, such as "The Man in Lower Ten" and "The Circular Staircase," as well as her later works.

Gene Stratton-Porter's stories of the Lumberlost are very popular. So are the novels of Harold Bell Wright. Indeed, it may almost be said that any book that is popular with the general reading public is popular with the soldier.

All people who have or willing to contribute books to this drive will kindly leave them at the Public Library to meet the calls for Mark Twain's classic of boyhood, though hundreds of copies have been bought in addition to those given by the public.

Do It Now

Think of some article around the house you never use and are not likely to ever need again; some furniture or clothing you have put aside and is really a bother to have in the house. There is someone who could use these to advantage and would be willing to pay a good price if they only knew they were for sale. Insert a small For Sale ad in The Herald tomorrow and dispose of these articles; you can use the money to, better advantage.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, sciatica, neuralgia, congestion, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, earache, muscle, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

BAN NOT LIFTED ON PUNCH BOARDS

The reappearance of a few punch boards in the city and consequent complaint to Mayor Dahl, who at the beginning of his administration had placed the ban on the apparatus, has led Mayor Dahl to obtain an opinion from Attorney General, which confirms Mayor Dahl's interpretation of the statutes, with the result that hereafter the appearance of a punch board in the city will be the signal for the arrest of the proprietor of the place, announces Mayor Dahl.
 The Attorney General holds that punch boards are gambling devices and those operating them are liable to arrest and fine as provided by the statutes regulating gambling.
